8. TradingView Support Level:

The Help Centre for TradingView can be found in the bottom right corner of the chart screen. Click the Question Mark icon and the help centre window will appear, from which you can search or browse by category.

Alternatively, you may access it directly from here: https://www.tradingview.com/support/

Depending on the account type, the help centre may not allow you to open a support ticket. Support tickets are reserved for paid accounts. If you are a client of Errante, you will of course receive the same top-level customer service that all our clients receive.

9. How can I locate Errante Instruments in TradingView?

Once you successfully login and connect to TradingView platform, click the plus sign '+' next to Watchlist window, a pop-up window will appear where you can click to Errante tab and all available instruments of Errante will be shown.

*Note: All Errante instruments are added by default under Crypto category in Watchlist
